How to End the War. One way to end the war is to stop fighting, another is to whip the enemy, and an other is to compromise the difficulty. But how compromise? The Rebels and Republicans never can compromise, never! They have a life long record of hatred towards each other, a record sung in songs, preached in sermons, made in speeches, uttered in prayers and written in books. Neither party can compromise without a surrender, and render under such circumstances would he looked upon as dishonor. A man to be not must be consistent.
